THE ATTORNEY GENERAL PLUM

HAS FALLEN INTO THE LAP OF ROBERT DICK DOUGLAS.

Governor Russell Gives the Two Months Term of Office to a Young Man Whose Ancestry Has Been on the Bench for Years in North Carolina—There Were a Number of Competitors.

The two months term as attorney general, left vacant by the resignation of Zeb. Vance Walser, came to Robert Dick Douglas of this city, over a large number of competitors. The News and Observer this morning says:

Yesterday the Governor appointed Mr. Robert D. Douglas, of Greensboro, to fill out Mr. Walser's unexpired term as Attorney General.

Attorney General Walser handed his resignation to Governor Russell Saturday, to take effect next Saturday. He resigns to accept the position of Supreme Court Reporter.

The new Attorney General, Robert Dick Douglas, is the eldest son of Justice Douglas of our Supreme Court and a grandson of Senator Douglas of Illinois, Mr. Lincoln's celebrated rival for the Presidency. Mr. Douglas was born in Greensboro, N. C., in 1875, and was educated at St. Mary's College in Gaston county and at Georgetown University at Washington, D. C. Graduating with honors, he studied law under his maternal grandfather, the late Judge Robert P. Dick, and obtained his license upon the very day that his father took his seat upon the Supreme Court bench. Succeeding to his father's business, he has since been in active and successful practice.

If there is anything in heredity, Mr. Douglas should be a fine lawyer, as his father and both grandfathers have been Supreme Court judges, while his maternal grandfather, the late Judge John M. Dick, was a Judge of our Superior Courts for 28 years. In fact, with a single interval of about seven years, Mr. Douglas has had an ancestor upon the bench in this State continuously for the last 65 years. He is a stalwart Republican, and was the candidate of that party for the Legislature in 1898 and again in this year. Having been defeated in August he was at once nominated for Presidential elector and made an active canvass. He is only 25 years of age, and is perhaps the youngest Attorney General of the State of North Carolina has ever had. In fact, we cannot recall one younger in any State except his grandfather, Senator Douglas, who was elected Attorney General of Illinois when only 21 years of age.

OUT FOR THE MAN.

A High Point Citizen Who Wants to Lick the Show Man That Reflected on His Town.

As the shades of night were being drawn securely down last evening a bloodthirsty individual walked into The Telegram office and announced in fire-eating tones that he was looking for a man to lick. Not being any too specific as to the individual whom he wished to double into a wad, the office crowd shied perceptibly towards the rear, but was bold enough to edge back up towards the front by the assurance that it was, to the best of the visitor's knowledge, a show man whom he wanted to make sausage meat of.

This straightened up things considerably and led to an inquiry into the cause of his wrath. He was biling. Beside his apparently well developed fisty accomplishments the stranger had a suspicious looking lump in the rear that caused his Jim Swinger to bulge out. It was all very suggestive, especially to show men. With a little gentle handling the stranger told his tale. News had come, only that day, he said, to High Point, that last week, a show man on the stage of the Greensboro Academy of Music, had wantonly and everlasting insulted the city of High Point. It was reported, he said, that this peripatetic son of the footlights, had, on being asked who made High Point, said that High Point was never made, that it was only a shovel full of dirt left over from the making of Greensboro. Such insult he was here to avenge, where was the man!

It appearing that he was likely to hold the office crowd responsible for the whereabouts of the man, he was informed that, while the showman had made a remark to the effect reported, this crowd had deeply resented it at the time and warned him never to repeat it, nor come to this section again. Thus slightly appeased, the stranger, in stage-villian tones remarked "it is well, but let that man beware!"

GOOD MUSIC IN STORE.

Those Who Attend the Concert Arranged in the Normal Course Will Hear It.

Good music is in store for those who attend the concert that has been secured by the Normal entertainment course.

The Bostonia Sextette Club, under the direction of Mr. C. L. Staats, clarinet soloist, is an ideal concert company. A string quartette is the real thing in instrumental music, and this company has string quintette and clarinet. Mr. Staats is probably the leading clarinet soloist in this country and his company are all musicians, several of them of national reputation. The guarantee is one of the largest that has been given here for a concert and a treat in store for those who attend. A concert is heard to best advantage in a fine auditorium like the Normal has, much more so than where there are stage settings.

The soloists are Mr. Land, violin; Mr. Landsman, cello, and Miss Edith Viola Ellsbee, soprano.

Mr. Brockman is looking after the interest of the company and he knows a good thing in instrumental music.

GATHERING OF THE MEMBERS

PREPARATORY FOR OPENING OF CONFERENCE TOMORROW.

Bishop Morrison Here and the Cabinet Met First This Afternoon—Ministers Have Been Arriving on Every Train—Everything Ready for Reception and Entertainment—Commodious West Market Will be Crowded—Conference Meets at Nine O'clock, and Will Have Three Sessions Daily—Notes of Interest.

The Eleventh Annual session of the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will convene in the West Market Street church in this city at nine o'clock tomorrow morning. There will be three sessions each day.

Bishop Morrison, who will preside, arrived at noon, and was domiciled at the guest of Mr. Howell Cobb at the Guilford.

The trains last night and today have been bringing ministers, delegates and visitors. The largest crowd so far came at noon today. Still larger ones will arrive tonight and on the early morning trains. They are being met at the station by the reception committee and taken to the homes provided in the city. Chairman Bray, of the committee, is alert, and is anxious that all visitors shall be taken care of promptly.

The following committees met today on account of the threatened inclement weather.

TO JOIN THE WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, of Chapel Hill, is in the city attending Conference and visiting relatives. It is understood that he will transfer to the Western North Carolina Conference at the present session of that body.

Mr. Wilson is a native of Greensboro, being a son of the late Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, who was Presiding Elder of the Greensboro District in 1855-58, and who afterwards made Greensboro his home.

Mr. Wilson's many friends here will be more than pleased to have him transferred to our midst.

FOR MORE COURTS.

Members of the Guilford Bar Appoint Committee to See What Can be Done Towards That End.

The members of the Greensboro Bar met yesterday afternoon in the Clerk's Office and made out a calendar for the December court to be held by Judge Hoke. They also decided that the public business demands a special term to begin on the first of January and last three weeks, the first two weeks of which are to be held by Judge Hoke and the third week by Judge Shaw, provided the Governor is willing. They also discussed the question of a different arrangement of the courts for this county. It seemed to be the sense of the bar that we should have a criminal court with a judge to preside in the county, if the next legis-

TO BE NO SOUTHERN REDUCTION

CONGRESSMEN SAY OUR REPRESENTATION IS SAFE.

The Members of the Coming Session Are Pouring Into the Capital City, and Express Themselves That There Will be no Time to Take Up the Question of Reduction, Even While the New Apportionment is Being Made.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Congressmen are pouring into the city. The general opinion is expressed that southern representation will not be reduced. Senator Cullom said that Congress had enough to do at this session without opening that subject, no matter what its merits might be. Senator Lodge said that an apportionment bill would be passed at this session, but he doubted very much whether the suggested reduction of southern representation would be seriously pressed. Congressman Grosvenor said that he does not believe a proposal to reduce southern representation will be mentioned when the new apportionment bill is considered.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of the members of the incoming legislature to increase the number of judges, and to abolish all criminal courts. To the end that the necessary courts may be provided for in this county, a committee consisting of John A. Barringer, R. R. King and A. M. NOTES FROM CONFERENCE.

Viewed from any standpoint a Methodist Conference is an interesting body. From the one of growth, it seems wellnigh incredible that a church so young should have in Western North Carolina 205 itinerant preachers, 196 local preachers, 71,000 church members, 695 churches, valued at $857,424.67, 127 parsonages valued at $142,000, together with much valuable school property.

But it is in the type of men whom the Methodist church has called to be her ministers, that characterizes this church most particularly. The old time circuit rider with his fine horse, his Bible and his saddle bags, does not find his counterpart in any other church. He is one of his own kind, and when the stories of heroic self-sacrifice are well written, he will furnish much to a man to interest and inspire.

The preachers began gathering in yesterday, and from today, the social pleasure of the Conference is on. To meet with the brethren again is the great event of the year. The stories they tell on each other, the good humor, the (at times) rather severe wit, all come into play, while the proverbial good appetite is at once the pleasure and the terror of the housewives—and the orthodox Methodist fowl.

And that reminds me of the closing hour of Conference when the appointments are read out. Of necessity there is disappointment in many cases—mankind is human without regard to occupation. A minister told me once of lying awake after Conference thinking of his appointment. It seems "Uncle Ivey," who had occupied the room with him was doing the same. A neighboring rooster crowed. Uncle Ivey brought things quickly to the present by remarking to himself: "It seems there is one, only, left to tell the tale."

Rev G. W. Ivey (Uncle Ivey) is one of the old men of the Conference. With this year he concludes 50 years in the ministry. Almost blind, he continues to serve his people with great acceptability. The grasp of this good old man's hand is like a benediction. The Methodist people pray that he may be spared many years to bless the church with his good sense, his great tact, his sound judgment, his undoubted piety, and his loyalty to God and the right.

Bishop Morrison makes his first Episcopal visit to this State. He is not a stranger to our people. They remember his labors as Missionary Secretary. He is a man of genial and engaging manners, but is as firm as a rock when he thinks a question of right is involved. This extract from one of his Sunday sermons at Charlotte, seems to indicate a sane point of view:

"There can be no patience with this mamby-pamby stuff that demands that men shall be harangued for money-getting and then asked to give big donations for college or church purposes. Man ought to try to succeed in his business. God Almighty never provided for a failure in either world, and what befalls one in the next world depends largely upon what he does in this.

"It is a mistake to fill a man with ethereal and transcendental ideas. I hope that Carolina does not contain men who are so busy laying up treasures in the next world that they are no good here. They are just calling laziness godliness and passing it off for piety. You should make and save everything possible and give everything possible. If a man is trying to be of value to his race I pray for his success in this world. The truth is that this is the only life I have had anything to do with. There is another and a greater life revealed to us by God; but the stewardship is here and is with us now. And a man needn't be a millionaire to be immortal. The poor woman who gave the two mites won earthly immortality, and there are thousands of persons, not foreign missionaries nor clergymen, who live in obscure positions and who will shine as God's brightest jewels".

Yesterday the Governor appointed Mr. Robert D. Douglas, of Greensboro, to fill out Mr. Walsel's unexpired term as Attorney General.

Attorney General Walsel handed his resignation to Governor Russell Saturday, to take effect next Saturday. He resigns to accept the position of Supreme Court Reporter.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking spot, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

MURDERED A BRIDAL PAIR.

PLEA FOR COMMUTATION OF ALASKA INDIAN'S DEATH SENTENCE.

He Was Converted by the Salvation Army at Skagway and Voluntarily Confessed the Murder—Then he Submitted Himself to the Court and Was Sentenced to Death.

Washington Dispatch, 15th.

The Attorney-General recommended to the President today that the sentence of death passed upon James Hansen be commuted to imprisonment for life. Hansen is an Alaskan Indian who, a year ago, with ten Indian companions, murdered Burt Horton and Florence Horton, a young bride and bridegroom, who were on a vacation trip near Skagway, Alaska. In the beginning of his plea for a commutation of sentence, Attorney-General Griggs says:

"The circumstances of this case are most extraordinary and deserves a special chapter in the annals of remarkable crimes. It is a case where the prisoner, having conceived and executed a brutal and savage murder on peaceful and inoffensive people, without detection or probability of detection or accusation, months after the offence voluntarily, by his own confession and admission of the facts, submitted himself to the judge of the court and to sentence of death."

The history of the young Indian's crime is this: In the beginning of October, 1899, Burt Horton and Florence Horton, a young married couple of Skagway, procured a boat, and placing a tent, guns and provisions and a few necessary articles of clothing in it, started out for a three weeks' vacation trip, in which it was proposed to camp, hunt and fish and do a little prospecting for minerals. Horton was 27 years old, his wife 19. They were never again seen alive.

In March of this year Jim Hansen, a young Indian, who had the reputation of being one of the worst characters in Alaska, reckless, fearless and cruel in disposition, was converted to Christianity through the Salvation Army at Skagway. He then told the captain of the Salvationists that he, with ten Indian companions, had murdered a man and a woman thirty miles below Skagway on the Lynn Canal, six months before. He recited all the details of his crime, and the captain advised him to tell his story to the Deputy United States Marshal. He did so willingly. Subsequently he accompanied the marshal with a posse, and although the snow was nine or ten feet deep in the wilderness, he conducted them to the spot where the bodies of the murdered man and woman were found under the snow.

He said that his companions had taken a vow that if any one told of the crime all should swear that Hansen was the leader of the party and that he alone was responsible for the crime. This statement was subsequently borne out by the testimony of his companions in the trial that followed.

One of the natives on trial said that Hansen, after shooting Horton, handed a knife to a young Indian, levelled a Winchester at him, and the companion cut Horton's throat. Mrs. Horton had already been shot by a native called Williams. Thereupon an Indian of the name of Kichtoo, about 20 years old, in a spirit of bravado, and wishing to dip his hands in white men's blood, rushed up and cut her throat with a knife.

Ten men beside Hansen were indicted, six being convicted and sentenced to prison for terms ranging from twenty-three to fifty years. All except Hansen used every subterfuge to escape conviction. They sold all their personal effects and collected money from Indians all over Alaska to pay counsel fees. But Hansen declared that he wished to be put to death.

The trial judge, in a letter to the Attorney-General, says: "His entire conduct during the trial of the other individuals convinced me of the honesty of his confession of the purity of the motives that induced it. That he was moved by a high religious fervor there can be no doubt. At the last act of the drama, when I reluctantly passed sentence of death upon him, in answer to the usual question why sentence should not be pronounced, &c., he answered with undaunted heroism, a benignant smile on his face, 'My brother, I have done my duty; now you do yours.' Such rare fortitude I have never before witnessed."

In closing his recommendation for a commutation, the Attorney-General says: "Hansen was an unenlightened, unchristianized savage. As soon as his conscience had been enlightened by the teachings of a religious society, with a rare devotion to the standard of duty raised up in his heart, he made immediate disclosure and confession of his crime and submitted himself to the hands of the law. This case is one of exceptional circumstances. I think his sentence can wisely be commuted to imprisonment for life and I recommend that that action be taken."

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident, of which Mrs. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides; no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters: and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1900.

WELCOME TO CONFERENCE.

The people of Greensboro open wide their hearts and homes to the ministers, delegates, and visitors of the Western North Carolina Conference which opens here tomorrow morning. We want them to feel that for this week whatever the city has is theirs, and that nowhere within the bounds of the Conference could be found a place more glad to have the body, or in which the people would take more delight in extending hospitality, or feel more pleasure in the association of the individual members. We hope that they will allow us to speak for the people of the Gate City in this particular, and take our assurance in the absence of the individual expressions which it is impossible to give.

The organization now with us is a great one, an important section of a great church, of vast worth to our State and civilization, and its annual meetings mean a new mile post in the great road it is traveling towards the reign of peace, justice and righteousness.

From Bishop to layman, welcome!

Speaking of the acquisitions that have come to the United States as a result of the war with Spain, and contrasting it with the fact that we began that war on the ground of humanity, The Raleigh Times remarks:

We could not have taken more if we had entered upon a war of avowed conquest. This record has discredited the United States in the eyes of the world, and hereafter our professions of disinterested humanity will only excite derision and contempt.

The statement in the last sentence is a popular one, but, as a matter of fact, is it a correct one? We do not agree with our contemporary and we think it would have difficulty in pointing to a single indication that this country has been discredited in the eyes of the world. Its prestige has been immeasurably advanced, and its diplomacy has acquired a potency which it has never before enjoyed. The result of the late election suggests the idea that we are not even discredited at home, as many people thought prior to the upheaval in the early days of this month.

Says the Durham Sun: "Our esteemed contemporary, the London Lancet, which is always discovering things, has just announced that the flesh of game dying in a state of terror or exhaustion develops poison. This is seized upon by some of the humanitarians as an argument against food of wild animals and birds. But by the same reasoning why should not the flesh of hogs be as harmful? If they do not die in 'a state of terror and exhaustion,' as they stagger about country barn yards with blood pouring from their slashed throats, then no animal does."

Now, we take it that the Sun has its esteemed contemporary on the hip. The nosing scientists and the impossible humanitarians must explain the hog question before they go any further. We are in perfect agreement with Sun that the last days of the hog are usually such as to induce a "state of terror and exhaustion."

And So Many Folks Thought it Couldn't be Done.

Durham Herald.
Would you believe it? North Carolina Democracy has succeeded in carrying the State for once without resorting to the cry of negro domination.

Two papers, the Post of Raleigh, and the Observer, of Charlotte, have been trying to get the state of public opinion on the results of the senatorial primary. The Observer has asked the county chairmen their opinion, and The Post has asked the members elect of the Legislature. The opinion seems to be largely that the primary was hurtful to the party and that it would be better to discontinue it. The most objectionable thing we have observed about the thing is its inevitable accompaniment of traduction of character and the mud throwing. And another thing. When there is such a respectable number of independent voters in a State as will cause a political party to run upon its merits, there will be no need of a primary for the purpose of getting good men. The opposition will attend to that.

The Morganton Herald of last week has just reached us. We note that court was in session there last week. We judge that the editor, Col. W. S. Pearson, who is a lawyer, was engaged in court work. Against this we protest. A man who can write the editorial stuff that Col. Pearson can, has no business engaged in windy-worded contests in a court house and with musty law books. The Colonel gave us only one editorial this week, and we charge the shortage up to him. He has no busi-waisting sweetness on the desert air of a court room. Let him come back to the editorial desk.

THE STRIKE IS OVER.

The Textile Union Having Given Up the Fight, the Mill Owners Win.

Durham Special to Charlotte Observer.

A special to The Herald from Burlington tonight says that the strike of cotton mill operatives is off. The unions at the Ossipee and Altamahaw Mills have disbanded. Eighty members withdrew from the Union at Burlington, and the most of these have applied to be reinstated in their former positions and given work. The National Textile Union has advised all to go back to work and will not extend any more help. It is considered that the trouble between the mills and the operatives is now at an end and the mill men have won.

Laughing Unhinged Her Jar.

New York Dispatch, 17th.

Laughing uproariously at a story told by a witty friend at a small party given by her husband, Mrs. Catharine Sharp dislocated her lower jaw, and the laugh was frozen into a fixed grin. She tried in vain to get her jaw back into place, and she was hurried to St. Catharine's Hospital.

The surgeons worked for two hours and finally threw the inferior maxillary bone into place. The fixed grin passed away, and she sank back on the bed, exhausted by the long ordeal. She is now resting easily at the hospital.

Brooks Story, the celebrated express robber, escaped from the Mississippi Penitentiary at 4 o'clock yesterday. This is his fourth escape.

The first-class battleship Kentucky, now in Mediterranean waters, has been ordered to touch at Smyrna, Turkey, on her way to the Philippines. The Kentucky has been in Mediterranean waters for some time and will stop at Algerian ports. In plain English this is meant as a hint to the Sultan that he must at once pay that $100,000 due United States.

The news of the recent fight between Fitzsimmons seems to have just reached Japan, and several papers in Tokio have printed long accounts of the fistic encounter. The names of the principals appear in the Japanese accounts as "Fuitsuzusoinom" and "Shikyaker."

DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best liver pills ever made. Easy to take and never gripe. Howard Gardner.

A negro hospital for Winston-Salem is now assured. It will be established in connection with the Slater Industrial School. Mr. R. J. Reynolds last year proposed to donate $5,000 for a hospital if the institution would raise the same amount. President Atkins has raised over $4,000 and expects to get the other $1,000 by Christmas. Mr. Reynolds has appointed his two brothers and nephew to represent his interests.

USED-OVER BOTTLES.

Those That Have Held Champagne Are Used Over and Over.

Foreign Made Glass Ranks Highest in the Trade—Interesting Facts About an Important Business in This Country.

Does all of the American-grown champagne go into bottles in America, and is it sold as what it is, or does it pretend to be of French origin?

What in particular suggests this question, says the Chicago Chronicle, is the statement recently made by a visitor to the New York state wine district that whatever may be said about the wine itself, the champagne bottle cannot be made in America. A member of one of the leading New York bottle manufacturers said, when asked what he thought of this statement: "For ourselves, we don't try to make champagne bottles; beer bottles are more in our line. But I don't believe champagne bottles can be successfully made anywhere in this country. A champagne bottle is expected to be of a certain recognized green color and a certain tapering form. We can get the form, of course, and we can get the color pretty nearly, but we cannot get that brilliancy in the glass which you find in a French bottle, combined with sufficient strength."

Another manufacturer took the view that the question of ability or inability to equal the French bottles with bottles of American sand is immaterial, because the supply of second-hand champagne bottles is fully equal to the demand.

From these two statements it appears that the growers of American champagne in California, New York and Ohio must be content with bottles that have already done service in bringing the wine of Rheims to this country. A bottle dealer in New York says that this is undoubtedly the case.

"This firm," he said, "is the largest firm of bottle dealers in the United States. We ship, even in slack times, from three to four car loads of second-hand champagne bottles a week. A car load is from 250 to 300 gross." This means, of course, about 150,000 bottles a week, or 7,500,000 bottles a year.

The destination of this mighty army of bottles? The dealer begged to be excused from giving particulars. Some of the bottles find their way to California, but it was gathered that much of the bottling is done in New York. And the much more interesting fact was elicited that a large number of bottles which come to America as champagne bottles degenerate to the base uses of beer. This is one result of the war with Spain and the rescue of Cuba. Beer is now largely exported to Cuba in ex-champagne bottles, which seems to prove the assertion of the bottlemaker that there is no demand for such bottles at first hand for American-made champagne.

The enormous numbers quoted by the bottle dealer suggests strong reflections, melancholy to the total abstainer, on the bibulousness of this great city. It must not be assumed, however, that all the 7,500,000 annual "dead men" shipped by this firm popped their corks within the limits of New York city. Many of these come from other cities. But the greater number lie at the door of New York, where the janitors and bartenders put them. Besides, Kipling's description of Fuzzy Wuzzy—"E's all 'ot sand and ginger when alive, And 'e's generally shammin' when 'e's dead—applies in both points to a bottle of champagne. It becomes a "dead man" only to be washed in a huge wholesale way by either the dealer or the bottler and filled up again with "fizz" in some mysterious way. So very likely the same bottle is sold full, popped, emptied, sold empty, washed and filled again as often as half a dozen times in one year. This is a terrible record of giddy dissipation for the bottle. It reconciles decent Americans to the thought that such bottles cannot be made out of American minerals.

Awards at the Paris Exposition.

Forty-two thousand seven hundred and ninety exhibitors out of 75,531 have received awards at the Paris exposition. The United States obtained 1,981 awards, of these 220 were grand prizes, 486 gold medals, 583 silver medals, 424 bronze medals, 270 honorable mentions, and a long list of gold, silver and bronze medals of collaborators. In the last exposition only 1,000 prizes, including those for collaborators, were given. The prizes were as follows: Grand prizes, 55; gold medals, 214; silver medals, 300; bronze medals, 246; honorable mentions, 229. The names of those who received grand prizes or gold medals have been made public.—Scientific American.

FAILED AS A MATCHMAKER.

The King of Denmark Tried His Hand at It, But Met with Misfortune.

The King of Denmark takes an active interest in the welfare of even the humblest of his subjects. The man who is now the "home farmer" to his majesty had been known by him from his early boyhood and was the son of one of the king's wealthiest farmers. A few years ago, says a London paper, he fell desperately in love with a pretty milkmaid who was in the employ of his parents. As usual, the course of true love did not run smooth, for the father was extremely annoyed and humiliated when he heard of this little affair and ordered his offspring to give up any idea of ever becoming wedded to a girl belonging to the servant class. Nothing daunted, the young fellow went straight to the king and entreated him to intercede for him and for his fair inamorata. The good king, much touched by the evident distress of the lad, did as he was asked, and, of course, there remained nothing for the irate father to do but to yield with as good a grace as he could muster. As soon as the wedding had been celebrated King Christian gave the young man the charge of his home farm and showed great kindness and generosity to the young couple. Unfortunately, however, this love match, like many another, turned out badly. Disputes became more and more frequent, the husband awakening too late, alas! to the fact that, apart from her good looks, his wife had few of the qualities which he would have liked to encounter in a woman for whose sake he had sacrificed the affection of his father. Finally, a few days ago the romance of the farmer and the dairy maid ended in a tragedy, for the husband shot himself in a moment of hopeless discouragement, and the king is deeply grieved and much depressed by this catastrophe, which he feels to have been brought about by his interference with a purely family matter.

Fox hunting comes high in Britain. Some interesting particulars relating to the first cost of the sport were given by Lord Bathurst. There are now 221 packs of foxhounds in the United Kingdom—180 in England, 26 in Scotland and 15 in Ireland, and these packs consist of 8,000 couples of hounds, and they necessitate the employment of 100,000 horses of the value of $35,000,000, involving an outlay of $25,000,000 per annum for their maintenance.

HAVEN FOR CLEVER THIEVES.

Criminals find a safe refuge from Justice in the Republic of Honduras.

This is one corner of Central America that is at present a perfect paradise for men who have committed any crime. It is a place where the outcasts of the world's society rule the land of their adoption—and where the officials of the government protect all thieves that come to them and make it dangerous for any detective to molest them.

This is the republic of Honduras, one of the least advanced of the states in South or Central America. Honduras, indeed, is a curious mixture of jungles and gigantic forest of coca and rubber trees, of bugs, vampires, snakes and crocodiles—of all manner of things that creep and crawl and sting and bite; a region where life in the daytime is a mockery, and at night one feels as though sleeping in red pepper.

Here, in every hamlet and city, are to be found men from different lands, mostly outlaws from their own country. Chicago, Boston, New York and Philadelphia all furnish their quota. England, France, Italy and even faraway Russia have their share. They make no attempt at concealment, bear the names they were born to wear, and go along about their business as if the laws of their own country had not declared them outcasts.

For Our Lady Readers

8078—Ladies' Wrapper.
32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 inch bust.

LADIES' WRAPPER, NO. 8078.

China blue all-wool challie, showing ploka dots in a darker shade of blue, was chosen for this comfortable and attractive house gown, with narrow silk braid for trimming.

The full fronts are gathered at the neck and arranged over the lining fronts, fitting smoothly across the shoulders. The fullness at the waist is held in position by straps of challie, which are included in the under-arm seams and cross in the center front, where they fasten with button and buttonhole.

Two rows of braid are applied in yoke effect, the pattern providing perforations for the correct shaping. This trimming may be omitted if a plainer effect is desired.

From the prettily shaped yoke depends the full back which is arranged in two backward turning plaits on each side of the center. These plaits graduate to the waist line, where they are held in place by a short strap. From this point the fullness falls in graceful folds to the lower edge.

The under-arm gores give a smooth effect over the hips.

The one-seamed sleeves are of moderate fullness, gathered at the top and drawn in at the wrist with an elastic, run through the upper edge of the hem.

The collar closes in the center front and is decorated with a point on each side of the closing. The lower edge of the sleeves and points on collar are finished with braid.

Cotton cheviot, madras, lawn, percale and dimity, also serge, flannel, cashmere and albatross are appropriate fabrics for this mode. Lace, embroidery, braid or folds of the material may be used as trimming.

To make the wrapper in the medium size will require five and one-half yards of forty-four inch material. The pattern, No. 8078, is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 inch bust measure.

THE TELEGRAM will receive and forward orders for all patterns described in this column. The price is only ten cents for each pattern to cover cost of mailing and handling. In ordering fill blank below and send to The Telegram office:

FATHER AND MOTHER APPROVE.

The Parents of the Little Girl for Whose Murder a Negro Was Burned are Satisfied With It.

Denver, Col., Dispatch.

"Well, no other parents will suffer from that brute's crimes." These were the words of Mrs. Robert W. Frost today, when asked her opinion of the burning of Preston Porter, the negro, who confessed that he was the murderer of her child.

"Of course, I was not consulted as to the punishment to be meted out, and I did not know what fate awaited him," she continued. "I did not care, so he was removed from the face of the earth. Nothing can atone for the death of my baby, and I did not have the feeling of revenge which so many people said ought to possess me. My one thought was to save others the pain we suffered."

"Whatever was done with the brute was right, no matter what. Certainly he did not suffer what Louise did, and she was innocent, while he was guilty.

Perhaps I would have some pity were I not her mother. No one but a parent of an outraged and murdered child can know just how I feel."

The murdered child's father, Robert W. Frost, returned to Denver today, from the scene of the lynching.

"A great load has been lifted off us," said he, "and as for me, I don't care who condemns me for starting the blaze. No other father will have to do what I did on account of that negro, and, as I said before, if the brute had been lynched for his first offense in Kansas, my baby would be alive today, and our hearts would not be broken."

A mass-meeting has been called for tomorrow afternoon at the First Baptist Church to protest against the work of the Limon mob and to discuss the question of a restoration of capital punishment. Governor Thomas has promised to address the meeting.

Both makers and circulators of counterfeits commit fraud. Honest men will not deceive you into buying worthless counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The original is infallible for curing piles, sores, eczema and all skin diseases. Howard Gardner

The fellow who laughs loudly at every joke he hears is bound to acquire great popularity.

A THOUSAND TONGUES.

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard St., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"it soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

Strange as it may seem, it is the very fresh child that is usually spoiled.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The City Treasurer, on account of the unavoidable delay in the collection of the taxes which were due on the 1st day of October, 1900, finds himself at present short of funds, but by reason of the public spirit and accommodation of the Southern Stock Mutual Insurance Company and the Underwriters of Greensboro, I am able to announce that the said companies will cash at their face value all interest bearing warrants issued since September 1st, 1900, by the city to school teachers, policemen and other city employees, when they are in the hands of the original holders and do not exceed $100 each, provided that this order does not hold good after $3,000 has been expended in cashing the said warrants.

Applications should be made at the bank counter of the Southern Loan and Trust Company.

The worm that is trodden upon believes that one good turn deserves another.

You can't afford to risk your life by allowing a cough or cold to develop into pneumonia or consumption. One Minute Cough Cure will cure throat and lung troubles quicker than any other preparation known. Many doctors use it as a specific for croup. Children like it and mothers endorse it. Howard Gardner

The counterfeiter gives out a false impression.

If you have ever seen a child in the agony of croup you can realize how grateful mothers are for One Minute Cough Cure which gives relief as soon as it is administered. It quickly cures coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles.

EDITOR'S AWFUL PLIGHT.

GOOD ADVICE.

The most miserable things in the world are those suffering from dyspepsia and liver complaint. More than seventy-five per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects: such as sour stomach, sick headache, habitual constiveness, palpitation of the heart, heart-burn, waterbrash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the stomach, yellow skin, coated tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, etc. Go to your druggist and get a bottle of August Flower for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. Try it. Get Green's Prize Almanac. Grissom & Fordham.

It's only natural that the man who takes in a "dive" should get soaked.

A GOOD THING.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in medicine. It quickly cures coughs, colds and all lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cts.
